

WORKING WITH EMPLOYMENT AGENCIES

Employment agencies are a great FREE resource for people looking to find work quickly. Agencies will introduce you to employers looking for candidates to fill temporary or permanent positions, and working with an agency can quickly build your resume with experience and skills. When working with an agency, make sure to update them with changes to your contact information, availability to work, and job status. Some agencies offer FREE courses to improve your marketability to employers. Don't forget to inform the agency of any new skills and experience you have added to your resume!
